THE GREAT SUICIDE.

ANDREW JOHNSON, in his characteristic harangue at Cleveland, talked about his being laid as a sacrifice on the altar of the country, but no friend of the country would think of polluting that altar with so unclean an offering, so he was not sacrificed. The next best thing was to commit political suicide for the good of the country, and that he has done most effectually.

When he made that disgraceful harangue to the mob near the White House, on the 22d of February, thoughtful people were made sick at heart with mingled feelings of shame, mortification and disgust, and were filled with alarm at the thought, that, by a great mistake, they had clothed a blackguard and a ruffian with more than regal power. These feelings continued up to the time when he set out upon his present electioneering tour, and under these feelings the true and loyal men of the country began, months ago, to labor, as they never labored before, to bring upon him and his ruinous "policy" such a popular rebuke as should cause even him, with all his bull-headed obstinancy and madness, to pause; or, if that could not be done, to so fortify Congress as to enable it to stand unflinchingly by the country.

But he, in his folly and his cups, has done more to damage himself, defeat his own policy, and strengthen Congress, than all the Republicans combined. Many of those who were inclined to favor his policy are now turning away from him with disgust and loathing. We have no disposition to comment upon his utterances at Cleveland and St. Louis. Everybody has read them, and that is enough. He has done the work himself, and, with his own hands, has laid the obscene offering—the concentrated embodiment of slavery, treason, rebellion, murder, violence, coarseness and inebriety—upon the altar. Now, let the rising gale of a wholesome public opinion sweep away the noisome fumes, and then all will be right once more.

From this time forward ANDREW JOHNSON, so long as he remains in office, can only be regarded as the nominal President of the United States. He cannot, and will not be recognized as the representative of his countrymen, either morally or politically; and at the approaching elections he will be so overwhelmingly repudiated that the world will regard him as virtually dead. After that, they need not blush for him or say what he will.

There is a strange fitness of things in all this. It was fit that rebellion and Copperheadism should have just such a champion; and it is eminently fit that, tied to the neck of their champion, they should sink down to shame and everlasting contempt together—self-destroyed, as everything is which emanates from the same source.

ALLEGHENY VALLEY RAILROAD.

It is with a high degree of gratification we announce that the energetic President of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, Col. WILLIAM PHILLIPS, has succeeded in raising, in this city and vicinity, about $2,500,000, with which to finish that important line of road to Oil City. It is now finished and in complete running order from Pittsburgh to the mouth of Mahoning, ten miles above Kittanning; and from that point to Brady's Bend Iron Works—about twenty miles further up the river—the work is so far advanced that the Company expect to have it completed this fall.

From Brady's Bend to Oil City it will at once be let out in one mile sections, and the work pushed forward with such energy that Col. PHILLIPS hopes to have cars running to Oil City in July, 1867. He has funds enough with which to do it.

The completion of this road will greatly advance the prosperity of these cities and of the entire valley of the Allegheny, and give a new impetus to the oil business, now one of the largest and most important in Western Pennsylvania; and it is equally honorable to the indefatigable gentleman who is at the head of this Company, and to the capitalists of Pittsburgh—without whose liberal aid the work could not have gone on—that this long-desired consummation has been reached.

SOMEBODY suggests that the "great father," of whom the President spoke in Philadelphia, as a "tailor by trade," was not father Adam, nor one still greater, but the "father of lies," whom this blathering admirer of his claims to be an itinerant tailor, because his "trade" is to walk up and down in the earth sowing tares. If that oldest of tailors should undertake to follow his eulogist, and sew up all the tears he has made in "my policy," since he started to go to Chicago, he would have a busy time of it. At Cleveland the rear part of the nether garment was entirely torn out.

It is decidedly our opinion that journalists who made eager pilgrimages to Greensburg or elsewhere, to sell themselves for a price, through the agency of Mr. COWAN or any body else, to the support of the President and his Policy, ought to be restrained by a sense of decent shame from imputing low and unworthy motives to such men as Mr. BEECHER and Mr. TYNG. An intelligent and indignant community rate such incriminations and their authors at the proper value.

MICHIGAN.—The Republican nominations for Congress are—1 dist. Bernard C. C. Beaman; 2. Charles Upson; 3. Austin Blair; 4. Thos. W. Ferry; 5. B. B. Trowbridge; 6. J. F. Driggs.

So far the Democratic nominations are—3. O. M. Barnes; 5. Byron Gray Stout; 6. Julius K. Rose.

—The Ottawas, a tribe of partially civilized Indians, are erecting a university for the education of Indians in Kansas. Their Chief, John Jones, is a thoroughly educated man, and is the leader in the enterprise, and associated with him are several other gentlemen, including Rev. Mr. Hutchinson, the Government Indian Agent for Ottawa. By a treaty consummated two or three years since, the Ottawas gave twenty thousand acres of land from the center of their rich reservation for the establishment of this University.

—Not long ago, a Virginia farmer having lost his wife, but wishing to keep her always in memory, called his estate "Gennary." Shortly after a neighbor met with a similar affliction, and determined also to name his farm after the dear departed. Imagine the popular astonishment when it was formally christened "Glenbetsy."

—The Richmond Times denies the story that the friends of Col. Dahlgren had a fictitious body palmed off upon them, and that the real body had been placed where it would never be recovered. The Times publishes the statements of the parties concerned in the burial, showing that the story is without foundation.

—An editor compliments a brother editor thus: "Mr. Brown is a clear thinker, a ready [illegible] writer, and a first rate fellow. A FOOL!"

Spread the Truth!

Some medical men insist that it is undignified to advertise a remedy, however valuable it may be. Queer reasoning this. It is like saying that an article which the world needs should be hid in a corner—that benefits and blessings may be too widely diffused—that the means of protecting and restoring health would be a close monopoly and not accessible to all. The argument is bad. It is worse than that: it is inhuman. Suppose HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—an absolute specific for dyspepsia, biliousness and nervous disability—had never been known beyond the repertoire of the faculty, what would have been the consequence? Instead of curing and invigorating millions, the good effects of the preparation would have been confined to a comparative few. There is the highest authority for saying that light should not be hid under a bushel; that whatever is excellent should be placed as a city on a hill, where all men can take cognizance of it. It is upon this principle that the BITTERS have been advertised and continue to be advertised in every newspaper of any prominence in the western hemisphere, and that the spontaneous testimonials in its favor have been translated into all written languages. Thousands enjoy perfect health today who would be languishing on beds of sickness if the newspapers had not spread the truth with regard to this unrivaled invigorant and corrective far and wide. Suppose profit has been reaped from this publicity. Is that any argument against it? Is the public health to be protected, if lives have been saved by it? The feeble have been strengthened and the sick restored, great good has been accomplished; and who so human as to grudge to exertions thus directed their fair reward?

Address of Hon. Hannibal Hamlin at Bangor.

BANGOR, ME., September 9.—Hon. Hannibal Hamlin addressed a large meeting here yesterday afternoon. In his remarks he said: The government must be restored on the immutable principles of justice, equality and liberty. Let it forbid that the rebels should ever resume their place except on these principles. He would rather transmit the struggle to the next generation, than that the question should be settled on any other terms. We can't consent to any restoration that does not protect the loyal men of the South, who stood by the flag when it needed support. He was willing that the traitors and their allies should remain in the country, but if he had the power, he would hang at least some half dozen of the leaders, who got up the rebellion, and murdered three hundred thousand of our loyal soldiers. He believed in Andrew Johnson as he was, and our Congressional Representatives as they are. He denounced the recreancy of the President. He then reviewed at length the course of the President, charging him with the usurpation of powers not delegated to him by the Constitution. Congress had done all it could, though not all we could desire. Impartial suffrage, without distinction of race or color, would have been our wish. Congress has done the next best thing. If the South is to gain a dozen representatives in consequence of the abolition of slavery, who will have been the traitors in the late contest? Did we fight the rebellion down only to give the South more power in our Government?

Special Session of New Jersey Legislature—Gov. Ward's Message.

TRENTON, N. J., September 10.—The New Jersey Legislature met to-day in extra session. Governor Ward's message regards the condition of the country with anxiety. He says that the spirit of the rebellion did not exhibit that spirit of loyalty which can alone give confidence to the public mind. From many of them we hear of deeds of violence and murder, and are assured that the loyal citizens are again under the care of the malignant spirit which incited and sustained the rebellion. He recommends the ratification of the Constitutional amendment passed by Congress, and the election of a United States Senator to fill the existing vacancy.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 10.—The Legislature met this afternoon. The message of Governor Ward was read explaining the reasons for calling the extra session, being the passage of the Constitutional Amendment and the the election of a United States Senator. Bills were introduced relative to the Constitutional Amendment and the election of an United States Senator. Resolutions were introduced condemning, in strong terms, the language of President Johnson, on receiving the proceedings of the Philadelphia Convention of August. The election of Senator will probably take place next week. Gov. Brownlow, of Tennessee; Hamilton, of Texas, and four or five other distinguished Southern loyalists, we learn, arrived here this evening and were received with considerable parade by the members of the Legislature and citizens. A large meeting was held in front of the Legislature Rooms, which was addressed by Gov. Brownlow and others of the delegation.

[BY STEAMER CHINA.]

HALIFAX, September 10.—The steamer China, from Liverpool, 1st at noon, and Queenstown on the 2nd, arrived here this afternoon.

The threatened Fenian invasion of Canada, and the active militia preparations to meet it are prominent topics. The dispatch of three regiments to Canada is fully confirmed. The steamers Tamara and Brontes, would proceed to Queenstown in a very few days, and embark the 53d and 61st regiments of infantry for Quebec. The 13th Huzars are reported as under orders for Canada, and the Morning Post thinks it possible that still another cavalry regiment will proceed to Canada as rapidly as possible.

The daily Telegraph says Canada is on the brink of another and much more serious invasion.

The Times remarks: Nobody supposes the Fenians are going to conquer Canada, but the contemplated invasion involves the necessity heavy expenses on the Colony and making some demands on the government at home.

The Army and Navy Gazette says that two gunboats have lately added to the British naval navy on Canada waters, were purchased on the spot and manned by officers and men from the flag ship Aurora.

The Times notices as especially satisfactory the fact that the Colonial government has now undertaken obligations which should be fairly discharged. New York Democratic State Convention.

ALBANY, Sept. 10.—The delegates to the Democratic State Convention, which is to meet here to-morrow, are arriving by every train, and the hotels are already nearly full. The attendance of outsiders, including a number of prominent conservative Republicans, is large. Of those already here a large majority are apparently for John T. Hoffman, of New York, for Governor. General Dix is spoken of by some of the western delegates, but the only prominent candidate besides Hoffman is Senator Henry C. Murphy. It it claimed that he was Dean Richmond's candidate, and that there would be no difficulty in his nomination if he were alive. Mr. Weed and his friends, and certain prominent Democrats, favor the nomination of Rob't. H. Pruyn, of this city, late Minister to Japan, for Lieutenant Governor. Judge Comstock, of Wyoming, also a Republican, is mentioned for this nomination. For Canal Commissioner, the candidates are Dan. Wright, of Geneva, and E. A. Ross, of Auburn.

The following is the vote of 1864: Lynch, 2,757; Sweat, 1,781; Republican majority then 976, being a net gain of 524. The aggregate vote is 332 less than in 1864. Bath gives Chamberlain (Rep.) for Governor 880 majority against 653 last year. Cape Elizabeth—Chamberlain, (Rep.,) 103 majority against 220 last year. Bangor—Chamberlain, 946 majority against 750 last year. Yarmouth—74 majority against 55 last year.

PORTLAND, Me., September 10.—At one o'clock a little over half of the vote of the city was counted, and gave the Republicans a majority of one thousand. Their majority in 1865 was nine hundred and forty-three, and in 1864 it was nine hundred and eighty-three. The Republican official canvass promised Lynch twelve hundred majority in the district, and in this partial vote Portland is ahead of the canvass. The vote in the city so far is not as large as was expected.

PORTLAND, ME., Sept. 10, 9 P. M.—Thirty-two towns give Chamberlain 15,396, and Pillsbury 7,525 votes. Republican majority, 5,741. The same towns last year gave Cory, Republican, 9,411 and Howard, Democrat, 5,154, a Republican majority of 4,257. This is a net Republican gain of 1,464. The aggregate vote this year in these towns is 6,246 more than last year. The Portland vote, not yet complete, adds 1,500 Republican majority to these figures. Fifteen towns in the First District give Lynch, Republican, for Congress, a gain of 1,297. This is the weakest Republican district.

PORTLAND, Me., September 10.—Later—Ten towns in the Second district give Perham, Republican, 2,083 majority, against 2,288 last year, being a net gain of 795.

A Geary Club Organized in the First Ward.

Last evening a large and enthusiastic meeting of the honorably discharged soldiers and Union Republican citizens of the First ward was held at the Public School House. The meeting was organized by the election of Capt. John McLanahan as temporary President, and the appointment of G. W. Perkins, Esq., as Secretary. Upon taking the chair, Capt McLanahan delivered a brief and pertinent address, setting forth the object of the meeting to be to effect the organization of a Geary Club. He reviewed the great contest which has just closed, in which the people decided and insisted that all loyal men should again fall into ranks, till the patriot Geary is elected.

A committee upon permanent organization was appointed which Capt. Louis Hager as Chairman. While the committee were preparing their report, General A. L. Pearson was introduced and made his appearance amidst much applause. The General proceeded to deliver one of his characteristically sound Union speeches. He reviewed the great struggle through which our country has passed, and passed a glowing tribute to the courage, bravery and patriotism of the brave boys in blue who had carried the flag successfully through the many bloodstained fields of the rebellion. He hoped that their efforts would not prove fruitless; that their victories would not be thrown into the hands through the machinations of wily politicians who strive now to obtain by the ballot that which they could not accomplish by the bullet. He urged upon every man to vote for no one who were the blue in the Union army, together with the men who contributed to the cause of our country, enlisted now in the ranks of the Geary Club, to do all in the coming campaign. The General explained the organization of "Boys in Blue," to which the Geary Clubs are auxiliary, and called upon his address by urging all in attendance to enroll their names upon the Secretary's list.

The committee upon organization here reported the following nominations for officers of the Club:

President—Captain John McLanahan.

Vice President—Captain Alex. Hay.

Secretary—Alfred Crosby.

Treasurer—G. W. Perkins.

Finance Committee—Captain James Rese, Benjamin Sugerly, Samuel Patterson, G. W. Coffin, W. B. Hunter.

Committee on Arrangements—Captain Louis Hager, G. W. Coffin, Colonel Joseph Ross, James Gracey, W. B. Hunter.

On motion the nominated gentlemen were elected by acclamation, and the meeting adjourned.

Republican Meeting in Allegheny.

Last evening the Rev. Dr. Pinkerton, of Lexington, Ky., a member of the late South ern Loyalist Convention, addressed an assembly at Excelsior Hall, in Allegheny. The arrangements for the meeting were made at so late an hour yesterday, that comparatively few of the inhabitants were aware it was contemplated. Hence, the audience was only moderate as to numbers.

Dr. Pinkerton confined his remarks mainly to the causes which led to the collapse of the rebellion left the insurgent population of Kentucky, and to the sate of feeling superinduced by the close of the struggle in that State. When the war closed the rebels were humble and docile. A firm hand, without undue severities, would have harmonized all classes. The loyalists were not in favor of harsh measures, and evinced a commendable disposition to staunch the wounds made in the prosecution of the war. The change of front by the President, in deserting the party by which he was elected, and the principles of which he was made the champion, had reversed all this, Kentucky was to-day absolutely in the hands of the rebels, and they were animated by intense hatred of the flag and the Union represented by it. Having been a Union soldier was so rapidly becoming odious that many were making haste to declare they were ashamed of having been in blue. Freedom of speech and opinion, except in accordance with the prevailing sentiment, was absolutely suppressed. Personal liberty was greatly imperiled. The most fearful outrages were constantly perpetrated on loyalists, white and black. It was vain to appeal to the President to point to the courts for redress of these grievances. No redress could be obtained. The President was acutizen of a rebellious State, and was in favor of all his fellow citizens doing as they pleased. He was flagrantly dishonest in conveying the impression that wrongs were susceptible of rectification as the courts were constituted.

In conclusion he expressed the apprehension that the war was not yet over. The result would largely depend on the result of the Northern elections, now pending. If the President's policy should be defeated in all the authority and places of Congress should be triumphantly sustained, the danger might be avoided. He made a powerful appeal to all present to permit no exertion to swell the Republican majority.

When he had finished Mr. Everett was called upon and made some pertinent observations.

Another Bloody Affair—Shooting Affray in Diamond Alley.

Last evening a man named Joseph Casky was seated, with some friends, at a table in Lutz & Waltz's beer saloon, on Diamond alley, when a drunken fellow named Patrick Gibbons entered with a couple of boisterous comrades and commenced insulting Casky. The friends of Casky attempted to punish Gibbons, and at last he arose and gave Gibbons a push which sent him reeling away. Gibbons recovered himself and went with his friends into the back yard, while Casky and his friends sat down again.

After about fifteen minutes Gibbons came back and walked hesitatingly to the front door. Here he seemed to muster courage, for he turned suddenly and walked directly to Casky. Drawing a pistol with a quick movement he placed the muzzle at the left side of Casky's head and fired, and then ran quickly out of the room. The ball passed through Casky's ear, and taking a course through the back of his neck, lodged in his right shoulder. He was removed to his home, in Birmingham, and had his wound dressed. His assailant was promptly pursued, but is still at large. Casky is employed at a Birmingham rolling mill, and Gibbons has worked heretofore at the Fort Pitt Glass works.

Meeting in the Eighth Ward—Organization of the Boys in Blue.

There was a meeting of the honorably discharged soldiers of the Eighth Ward held last evening at the Ann street school house for purpose of effecting a permanent organization of the Boys in Blue.

Ernest W. King was called to the chair and Col. James Schaffer was chosen Secretary.

In response to repeated calls Col. Thomas M. Bayne came forward and addressed the meeting. He spoke at considerable length on the duties of the soldier in the coming election, and admonished them in words of real eloquence to stand by those who had stood by them when they were engaged in deadly conflict with Southern traitors. He reviewed, in an able manner, the policy of Andrew Johnson and contrasted it with that of the patriotic measures of adjustment proposed by Congress, declaring in conclusion as his honest conviction that the schemes of Johnson and the new party that he has nursed into life, be supported by the people that the fruits of the late war will be utterly lost, and that the waste of blood and treasure will have been given for naught. He urged them in an earnest manner, by all the memories of the perilous past, and all their bright hopes for the future, to organize and be prepared to meet their old enemy in October. After giving them some information regarding the part they were expected to perform at the coming Convention of soldiers and sailors that meet here on the 25th of the present month, he retired amid a storm of applause.

Sergeant J. H. Kerr followed in a neat and telling address, in the course of which he eulogized the character of the soldiers' candidate, Wm. M. Geary, stating that as he had never met with defeat in the field while leading the enemies of his country, he would likewise be triumphant at the polls. This gentleman spoke for about an hour and was frequently interrupted by applause.

At the conclusion of his remarks, Lieut. John H. Miller moved that a committee of three be appointed to report permanent organization. The motion prevailed and the Chair appointed the following gentlemen to serve on the committee: Lieut. John H. Miller, Warren Winters and Joseph Wilson.

J. H. Miller then offered the following, which was adopted by a slight majority.

Resolved, That we concur in the action of our Representative in Council, in refusing to extend to Andrew Johnson the hospitalities of the city. And for the noble stand he has taken in that question they deserve, and have, our warm congratulations.

The President then announced the roll ready for signatures, and requested all in favor of the objects of the organization to come forward and sign it. In answer to the invitation quite a number stepped forward and affixed their names.

On motion of Lieutenant J. H. Miller the meeting adjourned to meet at the same place to-morrow evening at half-past seven o'clock, when the Committee on Permanent Organization will be prepared to report.

It is to be hoped that all those who have borne an honorable part in the recent war against treason, and are determined to secure to friends of the cause, will be in attendance at the next meeting, as business of importance will be transacted.

Reception of the Presidential Party.

According to adjournment, a meeting of the different committees having charge of the arrangements for the reception of President Johnson and party, was held yesterday morning, at eleven o'clock, at the St. Charles Hotel, Gen. Negley occupying the chair, and W. D. Spiking, Esq., acting as Secretary.

The chairman announced that President Johnson and party would arrive in this city on Thursday evening, at six o'clock, by the "Panhandle Route."

Col. Wilson McCandless, Firemen, through their chairman, George W. Leonard, reported that the following companies would turn out: Vigilant, Niagara, Alleghany, Neptune, Columbia, Richard Lee and Grant, of Allegheny City. The Columbia Hose Company declined to participate.

The following names were added to the Committee on Arrangements: Chief Engineer John H. Hare, Captain William J. Montgomery and Robert Watson, Jr.

Will be under the direction of Chief Engineer John H. Hare and his assistants.

A committee of three, consisting of Capt. Geo. W. Leonard, Capt. Gus. L. Braun, and Ex-Chief John Hamill was appointed to consult with the Finance Committee, relative to hiring horses and other incidental expenses incurred by the several fire companies.

All organized bodies of civic societies desirous of participating will please report to Gen. J. Bowman Sweitzer, Chief Marshal, at No. 161 Fourth street, as soon as possible Capt. H. H. Kerr was added to the Committee on Military.

The name of Judge Sterritt was stricken from the Committee of Reception, and ordered to be suitably engrossed in the minutes.

Colonel John W. Duncan, Chairman of the Military Committee, reported that an escort of fifty men, under command of two officers from the Allegheny Arsenal, would be present, and that Colonel Knap's battery would fire the necessary salutes.

Hon. Wilson McCandless, Chairman of the Reception Committee, reported that he had appointed the following sub-committee to meet the President at the State line: Hon. Albert Knight, chairman; Colonel Samuel McKelvey, Col. N. P. Sawyer, Col. James K. Kerr, Col. John W. Duncan, Hon. W. H. Lowrie, Alfred Patterson, Esq., W. H. McGee, Esq., and Captain Wm. Thaw, of Pittsburgh; Thomas L. Jewitt, George W. McCook, of Steubenville, H. J. Jewitt, of Zanesville; Ex-Postmaster General Dennison, William H. Clemmer, Esq., all of St. Louis; J. W. Disney, of Cincinnati; D. H. Gray, of Columbus, Mr. Fairbanks, of New England.

President—Jno. D. Ferry.

Treasurer—Wm. Thaw, of Pittsburgh.

Solicitor—J. P. Usher.

Chief Engineer—R. M. Shoemaker.

An Unprovoked Attack.

W. S. Stewart is the proprietor of a small grocery store, in Penn township, on the line of the Allegheny Valley Railroad. On Friday evening last he was sitting at his own doorstep, when two men named William Isleman and George Rutter, escaped from a passing train, and without addressing a word to Stewart, they began abusing him in a shameful manner, knocking him down, kicking him and otherwise maltreating him. Several neighbors attracted by the disturbance, ran to the assistance of Stewart, when his assailants left him, but Stewart followed them up, and proceeding to the office of Alderman Humbert, instituted proceedings against the parties who had attacked him, for aggravated assault and battery. Rutter was arrested yesterday and committed to jail, for a hearing, but he subsequently secured bail, and was released.

An officer has went in quest of Isleman, who resides in Westmoreland County.

Charged with Attempting to Defraud.

John Murphy was before Justice Lippert on Saturday, charged with an attempt to swindle the heirs of Matthew Garrity out of six hundred dollars. It appears that Murphy was the custodian of the sum named by Matthew Garrity some time last January, which he was to retain for six months, at six per cent. Garrity, however, died in July last, and left a will bequeathing the money in the hands of Murphy to some distant relatives. The latter became impatient for which the money was lent expired on the fifteenth of last month, but Murphy refused to refund the money to the legal heirs, and hence the charge. The accused gave bail for a hearing on Saturday.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

Yesterday morning at nine o'clock the Court of Quarter Sessions opened with Judges Mellon and Brown on the bench.

The jury in the case of Jacob Brown, commenced on Saturday on an indictment for bigamy, brought in a verdict of guilty. While the trial was in progress the defence raised the point of law that the indictment would not hold good, as the offense was alleged to have been committed more than two years previous to the date of the information, and that the prosecution was therefore restricted by the statute of limitation. The Commonwealth contended that the offense continued as long as the parties cohabited together, or until the second marriage had been rendered null by divorce or other legal proceedings. The Court sustained the position taken by the Commonwealth and overruled the objection. The counsel for defense made a motion for a new trial, and the prisoner was remanded to jail.

Gotlieb Fox, charged with surety of the peace on oath of John Snyder, was ordered to pay costs and give bonds to keep the peace.

John Snyder, defendant in the above case, prosecuted Gotelib Fox for a similar offense, but was ordered to pay the costs.

James Dunn was arraigned on a charge of felonious assault and battery, preferred by officer James Mooney. The accused struck the prosecutor with a stone, while the latter was making an arrest. The jury found a verdict of guilty, and the defendant was remanded for trial on a charge of riot.

Jacob Firstgna was placed on trial on a charge of surety of the peace, preferred by Sophia Wammer, and was ordered to pay costs and give bonds for good behavior.

The case of Joseph W. McConnell, indicted for stealing a lot of oil barrels, the property of Captain J. T. Stockdale, as consignee, was taken up. The barrels were found in the possession of the accused, but the latter alleged that he had purchased them. The barrels had been taken from the wharf by somebody, and being found in the possession of the accused he was held as the thief. The larceny was proved beyond a doubt, as was also the fact that the stolen property had been found in the possession of McConnell. The defense called two witnesses, however, who testified that they had seen McConnell, on a certain occasion, pay money to a man at Sharpsburg for a lot of barrels, and one of the witnesses testified that he helped to float these barrels down to the city for the defendant. The jury found a verdict of guilty, and the prisoner was remanded for sentence.

Otto Firstgna was next placed on trial for horse stealing. It is alleged that the defendant, on the night of the 7th of August, stole two horses from the stable of Captain Bowler, near Baden, Beaver county. Capt. Fowler was called upon the stand and stated that the horses were missed on the morning of the 6th of August, and traced to the livery stable of Mr. Young, in the Ninth ward of this city, where the accused, in company with another man, had taken them for the purpose of having them fed. Mr. Young stated that the horses were brought to his stable about eight o'clock in the morning, by the prisoner and another German. The accused alleged that he had bought one of the horses from his companion, and had paid one hundred and forty dollars for it. They remained in the city for some hours. When Captain Fowler reached the city and gave a description of the horses to Mr. Young, they started in pursuit of the supposed thieves. Mr. Young followed them through Wilkinsburg, heard of them at Turtle Creek and other places along the pike, and finally overtook them some miles west of Greensburg. The latter had another companion with him—not the same who appeared at Young's stable. He alleges that he had been hired to ride the horse to Greensburg for the man who claimed to have owned both horses, but who had sold one of them to the defendant. The horses were taken from the city, and the two men were also brought to the city. The party who first appeared in company with Firstgna could nowhere be found, it being alleged that he had gone to Greensburg on the cars, where he was to await the arrival of the other two. An old lady, residing on the farm adjoining that of Capt. Fowler, was called for the defense and testified that Firstgna had lived with her as a farm hand, for over a year, and that his reput

ONE THING AT A TIME.

It is a somewhat singular fact that the Union men of the Gulf States are extremely anxious that the colored men of the South shall at once be invested with the right of suffrage, while those of the border States are not inclined to make that question an issue in the present posture of affairs. But when we consider that the former are in a hopeless minority as compared with the rebels so long as the colored people are excluded, while the white Loyalists of the border States feel themselves able to cope with the disloyal element of their population without the aid of the negroes, the position of the two classes of loyal white men is easily accounted for.

Theoretically and morally the men of the Gulf States are right; but this is a question that does not enter into the great issue now before the people. The question of suffrage can only be settled by the States, each one for itself. Congress has very wisely left that question to the States. It, therefore, does not properly come up for discussion in this great struggle, which is a purely national one. The question is, How shall the Union, broken by the secession of eleven States, and by the resultant war, be reconstructed? Two plans are before the people—one without conditions, without guarantees, and with no security against a repetition of those terrible calamities which the treason of these people brought upon us—the other a very carefully prepared constitutional amendment, which, while it is more lenient, more moderate, kind and magnanimous than any government in the world ever offered to vanquished insurgents, will secure the country, as far as statesmanship can secure anything, against future trouble of the same kind. This, and this only, is the issue with which we have to deal at present. It would, therefore, be premature and unwise to complicate it with other issues at this time. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

Nevertheless the question of universal suffrage enters remotely into this issue, but in a manner so just to all, and so perfectly in accord with the reserved rights of the several States, both loyal and disloyal, that no exception has been or can be taken to it. In the second section of the amendment, after providing that representatives in Congress shall be apportioned among the States according to their respective numbers, as at present, it is added that, "whenever in any State the elective franchise shall be denied to any portion of its male citizens not less than twenty-one years of age, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation in such State shall be reduced in the proportion with the numbers of such male citizens not less than twenty-one years of age."

It would be impossible for human wisdom to frame a fundamental regulation more just to all the States, and to all the people of all the States, than this, and at the same time more perfectly conservative of the proper rights of the States as such. Under this rule, if a State sees proper to withhold the franchise from any portion of its people, whether on account of poverty or color, or any cause other than criminality on the part of the disfranchized, it is at liberty to do so; but it can only do so at the expense of a corresponding reduction of its relative weight in the national councils. Under this regulation it will not be possible for the white men of South Carolina or Mississippi to have more than double the representation in Congress to which the same number of white men in Pennsylvania, or Ohio, or Massachusetts, or Michigan are entitled. This, however, must and will be the case should the President's policy prevail; and nothing can prevent this monstrous inequality and injustice except the amendment of the Constitution just referred to. The case is a plain and simple one. Under the Constitution as it is, the entire free population, without distinction of color, class or sex, are counted in the basis of representation; and as the blacks in the two States just named considerably outnumber the whites, it follows that, unless this amendment prevails, the whites of those States—although as malignant and hostile as ever—will be more than doubly represented in Congress; and in some other States the proportion will be almost as great. Will the loyal freemen of the North submit to such injustice as this? Yet for taking the only measure for avoiding it that is possible, Congress, and all who take sides with Congress, are coarsely and bitterly assailed by the President and his followers as traitors and enemies to the Union.

Now, we submit to those who would press the suffrage question to an immediate issue, whether we have not work enough upon our hands for one year? We are now laying the foundation of our national Temple of Liberty—not putting on the roof. We are building the walls in troublous times, amid fierce opposition, both open and treacherous. Let us see to it that it rests upon solid ground, and that no untempered mortar is used. That done, the work of finishing it in all its harmonious and beautiful proportions will be a comparatively easy task. Let us do one thing at a time.

A CORRECTION.—It was announced in these columns, under a misapprehension, that a Republican Mass Meeting would be held to-morrow at Greensburg. The meeting in Westmoreland county for that day is at West Newton, and not Greensburg, and it promises to be the best demonstration made in that section for many years. Excursion tickets will be issued to all who wish to go up from this city.

REV. H. W. BEECHER.

The letter of this gentleman, which we published yesterday, contrasts strongly in spirit and tone with the former one, which drew wild shouts of admiration from the co-operating cohorts of rebels and conservatives, and sharp criticisms from the lips and pens of most of his old and tried friends. This change shows how deeply he has been touched by the reception accorded his sweeping and unqualified endorsement of the President's Policy.

The qualifications and abatements Mr. BEECHER now makes, he ought to have made at first. He certainly knew into what controversy he was dipping, and on what side. He could not fail to foresee that his unreserved commitment would be put to a use most detrimental to the principles in the illustration and defence of which he had gathered his proudest laurels.

Mr. BEECHER now explains:

"I have never thought that it would be wise to bring back all the States in a body and at once any more than it would be to keep them all out together. One by one, in due succession, under a practical judgment rather than by a wholesale, theoretical rule, I would have them readmitted."

This makes his first letter still more inexplicable than it was before. The President's idea is that the revolted States have no need to come "back," or to be brought "back," for the simple reason that they were never away; that they have precisely the same right to representation as the loyal States; and that to debar them, or any of them, for a period, long or short, is to disregard the plain requirements of the Constitution, and all the essential equities of the case. On the other hand, the Congressional scheme of restoration is exactly that to which Mr. BEECHER now claims to give his adhesion. Under it Tennessee has been restored, and as fast as the other ten seceding States shall show they are in a suitable condition, by ratifying the Constitutional Amendment, they will be re-admitted, one by one, in due succession.

There is much graphicness and truth in Mr. BEECHER's delineation of the character of the President, and of the mischiefs to be apprehended from his violence, egotism and recklessness. But we do not see that the treatment attempted by Mr. BEECHER in his first letter has moderated the President's temper or smoothed his tone. Since then we have been furnished with the presidential harangues at Cleveland and St. Louis; the latter, if possible, surpassing the former in enormity, both of manner and matter. It must be remembered, moreover, that these speeches are not reported by enemies to the President or his Policy, but by persons selected by himself and who accompany him for that express purpose. Doubtless, all the offensive passages are modified so as to present them in the most favorable aspect. It may be, they are submitted to the President for such hurried revision as would comport with his own sense of propriety. At all events, there is no evidence to show that the soothing process has produced any of those beneficial effects which Mr. BEECHER claims. Indeed, in the judgment of all impartial men, there is a much stronger influence in the calm remonstrances and sorrowful rebukes of the last letter, to restrain the impetuosity and ferocity of the President, than in the former declarations, which were fairly liable to be construed into an endorsement both of the Presidential plan and the methods by which it was sought to be accomplished. Besides, Mr. BEECHER's present attitude is a standing monument to the efficacy of indignant protest and trenchant rebuke.

—A considerable sensation has been created in mechanic circles by the recent discovery of Mr. Hennage, of Buffalo, that sheet iron will serve for belting in place of rubber or leather.

—A human monster recently murdered the host of a tavern at Montana, took possession of the place, hacked the corpse of his victim to pieces and served it up in various dishes to travelers stopping at his house. He has made a full confession.

—Julio Buislay, while performing the Niagara Leap, last week, at the Walnut Street Theatre, in Philadelphia, fell from the trapeze, near the ceiling, to the stage, a distance of thirty-five feet, but was only slightly injured. The performance was not interrupted.

—A week or so ago Miss Lottie Beidleman, of Chillicothe, Peoria county, Illinois, lost her speech in consequence of excessive tickling by a companion under the arm. She was struck dumb at the time, and in a week has only recovered speech enough to speak in a whisper.

—General Howard will order an investigation into the recent outrageous attack by returned rebel soldiers upon the colored camp-meeting near Baltimore. Two of the negroes wounded in the melee have since died. A Washington paper says that young Benson (white,) who was shot while praying, is also dead.

—It is stated that nearly every German prince has at least a hundred thousand dollars invested in American securities, and the King of Hanover, who has been notified that he cannot return to his throne, has a half million in our loans. So there is little danger of their actual starvation if they do become private citizens.

—General McClernand, one of the most zealous supporters of the Administration, declared at the recent Illinois Copperhead Convention that civil war was imminent, as the President and his party would set up a Congress of their own, and a collision between that body and what he styled the "Rump" would take place very speedily.

—A woman died of cholera in St. Louis, Mo., last Monday, whose finger had been previously amputated, and was preserved in liquor. On her death-bed she earnestly requested her husband to have the finger placed in the coffin with the corpse. The husband, last Wednesday, had the body disinterred for the purpose of complying with her wish. Soon after he was stricken with cholera and died the same night.

THE Frankfort (Ky.) Commonwealth, is cured of its conservatism. It says:

"The President of the United States, from every indication we have seen, has thrown himself into the hands of the Copperheads of the North and the rebels of the South. Like John Tyler he has abandoned the people who placed him in office, and is seeking to make himself a man with the rebel Democracy, who, to use his own language in a speech made in Lexington, after his escape from them through the mountains of East Tennessee and Kentucky, a few years ago, "were hunting him with their blood hounds, and seeking his life," and like John Tyler the rebel Democracy will use him, and then spurn him—and deservedly so. We have no more confidence in a man who betrays the people who elevated him to office, than we have in a traitor to his country.

"We believe a large majority of the people of Kentucky are disloyal to the Government. We believe the great mass of them would, to-morrow, if they had the power, elevate Jeff. Davis or John C. Breckinridge to the place now occupied by Andrew Johnson, adopt the Confederate Constitution, and carry out fully all the measures adopted by the Confederate Congress. If there be any change in their feelings and views since 1861, we have not been able to see it. Mr. President Johnson is in bad company, and therefore cannot have our further support."

The Eighty-eighth Asteroid.

A new planet was discoverbd in the constellation Capricorn on the night of the 6th of August, by M. Stephan, director of the Marseilles Observatory. Its position at 14h. 4m. 25s. M. T. M. was as follows:

Right ascension.....20h. 53m. 58s.
N. Polar distance.....106 deg. 47m. 50s.

The discovery was telegraphed to Paris, and on the next evening the position of the planet at 11h. 47m. 57s. P. M. T., was found to be:

Right ascension.....23h. 32m. 54 29s.
N. Polar distance.....106 deg. 43m. 57 1s

This discovery, which brings the number of asteroids up to eighty-eight, was made with the new telescope, which is constructed on a hitherto untried principle. The planet has the appearance of a star of the ninth magnitude.

—Much surprise has been expressed since the departure of the President on his electioneering tour at the many appointments of Collectors and Assessors of Internal Revenue, as it was generally supposed that the appointing power was confined to the President alone. The mystery, however, has been solved. It appears that prior to his departure, Mr. Johnson left with the Secretary a large number of commissions, signed in blank, for internal revenue officers and officers of customs, in order that the Secretary might keep the blade of the political guillotine from rusting during his absence. Appointments are being made every day, and the appointees enter immediately upon their duties, but their names are kept quiet from a fear that the public will get an inkling of what is going on.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

(ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS ON FIRST PAGE.)

The Death of Neeson—Continuance of the Coroner's Inquest.

The jury empannelled by Coroner Clawson in the case of Patrick Neeson, reported in yesterday morning's issue, met yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, in the Mayor's office, to conclude their investigations.

Dr. Edmund S. Umbstaetter was the first witness sworn—At nearly twelve o'clock on the night of the fourth of July, I was called upon to visit Patrick Neeson, at his residence in Pitt township; found the patient with a fracture of the skull on the left side immediately above the eye; made an examination of the wound and found that a piece of the bone of the skull consisting of both plates of the bone had become entirely detached from the rest of the skull; I lifted the bone out, and found it about the size of a finger nail; I introduced my finger into the opening and discovered a fracture running downwards toward the eye; the general system was in a better condition than is generally found in persons suffering from such wounds; I cleansed the wound, applied cold water dressings and directed the patient to be kept perfectly quiet. I had examined the wound with a view to discovering any spiculae or loose pieces of bone, but could find none. Dr. Daly then examined him with the same view and with the same result. The patient was removed the next day to the Mercy Hospital, where Dr. McCook, Jr., and myself visited him several times. He continued to improve and get worse alternately, but at length recovered so far that I considered him out of danger, and about the 29th of July he left the hospital and went alone to his mother's residence. He subsequently came to my office to get his wound dressed. I dressed it and told him to return in about a week. Before the week had expired I was sent for to visit him as having become worse. This was on the 22d of August. I found him considerably worse than when I saw him last. He was suffering from attacks of vomiting and his system was generally disordered, probably in sympathy with the injury to his brain. On the whole he grew worse after this, though he was a little better one or two days. He continued to grow gradually worse until the night of Friday, Sept. 7th. On the 4th of September he was trephined by Dr. Gallaher. We expected to find suppuration at the seat of the wound, but none was found. A small spicula of dead bone, consisting of the external table of the skull, was found on this occasion. He did not improve after this at all. Was present at the post mortem examination on Saturday with Drs. McCook and Gallaher. We discovered suppuration in the lateral ventricle and in the substance of the brain. The injury done to the brain was sufficient, in my opinion, to cause death.

Jas. McCormick, sworn.—On the 4th of July evening last I was on an Oakland Passenger car. Jas. Creighton, Patrick Neeson and myself were on the car together. On the hill this side of the toll gate, the conductor came to us for our fare; I told him that Creighton would pay, Creighton pulled out some money, and handed it to the conductor; the conductor would said it was not good, and refused to take it. Neeson remarked that it was United States money, and was good, and he would have the conductor or accept it; the conductor still refused to accept it, and Neeson said that he was free to ride for nothing so long as the conductor refused to accept United States money; the conductor ordered us off, but Neeson refused, and we all rode on till we got to the toll-gate; the conductor and Neeson had some sharp talk before getting to the toll-gate, but no serious quarrel; we all got off at the toll-gate, having gone as far as we intended; Neeson went by himself down the hollow of the road a little way to the right towards his house; Creighton and myself followed him at some distance; some other party also got off, but I could not see who it was; some hard words passed between us and the party on the car, and the man who got off threw a stone which hit Neeson on the head; cannot swear as to who the man was; he wore a short coat and low hat; did not see any other stones thrown; Neeson fell as soon as he was struck, and several of us took him up and carried him home; cannot say whether the stone was thrown by the conductor.

Dr. Thomas J. Gallaher, sworn—On Saturday, August 24th, I was called to visit Patrick Neeson, at his mother's residence, in Pitt township. Next day, in consultation with Dr. Umbstaetter, I visited him again. From the symptoms I judged that there was an abscess formed, either on or within the substance of the brain. I proposed trephining for the purpose of relieving the abscess. This was postponed for the present, until further investigations could be made. He became worse a few days afterwards, when the operation of trephining was performed by me. This was on Tuesday, the 6th instant. No abscess was found, but a small portion of the bone was depressed. This portion had become so re-united with the skull that it could not be elevated without another fracture of the bone. A portion of this bone was dead, and a small fragment was removed. No permanent benefit resulted from this operation, and the patient died on Friday night, the seventh instant. Was present at the post mortem examination made by Dr. McCook, Sr., on Saturday. A large abscess was found in the interior of the brain, occupying mostly the inferior lobes and the lateral ventricles. This abscess resulted from the original injury, and I have no doubt, caused the patient's death.

Samuel Denning, sworn—Was on the car with Neeson the night he was hurt. Left town on the half-past ten o'clock car for Oakland; was driver on the road at that time, but was not driving that car on that night; as we reached the city line we saw three men sitting beside the road, who called for the car to stop; they got upon the car; did not know any of the men; the conductor, J. W. Deemar, came to them for their fare; one of them handed him some money, which the conductor refused to take, because he said it was a counterfeit fifty cent piece, and returned it to the man; Deemar said he would carry them out free; the man who handed him the money said that unless he took that money he would have to carry them free. At the toll gate the man got off; I was standing on the rear platform all the time; the car had been stopped once for them to get off, but they had refused; when they got off some words passed between them and the conductor; immediately after they got off they threw a stone against the rear dash-board of the car; they may have thrown more than one, but I ran forward and do not know; I know nothing more of the case; don't know whether Deemar jumped off the car or not, but he came upon the platform from from somewhere, after I went there, and passed through the car to the rear platform; don't know whether Deemar or any body else on the car threw any stones.

Officer Andrew J. Moon, sworn—I arrested Deemar on the 5th of July, on the charge of assault and battery with intent to kill, committed upon Patrick Neeson, on oath of Jas. Neeson; had some conversation with the prisoner; he said that after leaving the rear end of the car, on his way to the front platform, he threw a stone, but did not know whether it hit anybody; the reason he did it, from the rear platform, he said, was because stones were being thrown at the car, and he was afraid; at the time of the arrest he wore a box coat and a low plush hat; this was his usual costume.

Thomas Christian, sworn—Was on the car with Neeson on the 4th of July evening. When the car stopped at the toll gate and the three men got off, a stone was thrown at the rear dashboard. I got off and went to the front platform, the conductor also got off and came around to the front platform shortly after I did. Did not see the conductor or any other person throw a stone. Nobody except the conductor and myself jumped off the rear platform that I know of.

Samuel Denning, re-called,—After Deemar rejoined me on the front platform, he told me that he had thrown a stone but did not know whether he hit any person.

Thomas Christian, re-called,—When the car stopped at Oakland, Deemar and I were talking together, and Deemar said that when he got off the car at the toll gate he threw a stone but did not know whether it hit anybody. He said he was going up stairs for his "shooter" to take back with him, and would shoot any person that interfered with him.

This closed the testimony, and after some consultation, the jury being unable to agree, the inquest adjourned to meet again at three o'clock on Saturday evening, at the Mayor's office.

Christened at Last.

Our readers will all remember that on Wednesday last, Mr. Joseph O'Brien, janitor of the Third ward public school, on Grant street, discovered an infant on the door step of his residence, on Chatham street. The circumstances of the affair were fully detailed at the time, and there is no need to repeat them. Mr. O'Brien determined to keep the little one on probation, and applied to Rev. Father Burke, to have the waif christened, so that when it should be sent away, it might take at least a name with it. The name proposed by the temporary foster father was Thomas Chatham, in commemoration of the place where the youngster was found. The Reverend Father demurred, and at length refused outright to bestow such a name on the infantile stranger. After duly considering the matter, and feeling his heart warm towards the tiny adventurer, Mr. O'Brien determined to adopt it as his own, and yesterday morning again presented it for baptism, this time proposing the name of Joseph O'Brien. Father Burke was better pleased than before, and christened the child. So now the desolate waif has a home, and Mr. O'Brien's home has a "well spring of joy" in it.

Sentenced.

James Dunn, convicted in the Criminal Court on Friday of assault and battery on the person of Pat Kinslow, was brought before the Court yesterday, Judge Mellon presiding, and sentenced to pay a fine of $20, which he did, and was discharged. The leniency of the Court is due to the fact that Kinslow is recognized in the neighborhood in which he lives as a common nuisance, being the greater portion of his time in a semi-state of intoxication. At such times he is guilty of uttering the most foul and obscene language, and frequently, for lack of other amusement, reviles the character of his more respectable and well behaved neighbors. Young Dunn committed the assault complained of while Patrick was standing on a public thoroughfare pouring forth vile slander on the character of the boy's parents. The provocation was so great that the Court very wisely recognized in it a palliation for the offence and sentenced accordingly. In addition to this the defendant has hitherto borne an excellent reputation.

Corner Stone Laying.

The corner stone of the North Presbyterian Church, now in course of erection in Allegheny City, will be laid with appropriate ceremonies this afternoon, at three o'clock. The members of the various Presbyterian Churches in Allegheny and Pittsburgh, as well as the public generally, are cordially invited to participate in the ceremony. The edifice, which is under the pastoral care of A. A. Hodge, is in a very flourishing and thriving condition. Ample funds have already been raised to complete the edifice, and, from the architectural design, we are led to believe it will be one of the handsomest buildings of its character in Allegheny. We hope the commendable enterprise of this congregation will meet with a hearty support from our Christian community.

EARLY TELEGRAMS.

Late Foreign Items—A Significant Speech by Bismarck—The Polish Insurrection.

NEW YORK, September 10.—The following foreign items were received by the City of Boston, which has arrived at this port:

Count Bismarck delivered a most significant speech in the Prussian Legislature on the 26th ult. In defence of his German annexation policy. He declares that Prussia must lay hold on and keep what is offered to her. That a European Congress would produce war, that the Crown is determined and able to defend the new territorial acquisitions. The leader of the opposition denied that the consolidation of the power of the Prussian Crown strengthened German unity.

The French commander of the camp at Chalons in dismissing the troops addressed the soldiers, by order of the Emperor, calling their attention to victories by name in which Napoleon I. defeated the Austrians, Russians and Prussians, and telling them ever to cherish the memories of Jena and Austerlitz.

Polish accounts from Cracow assert that the insurgent Poles, in Siberia, defeated the Russian regiments, and being joined by revolutionary Russians had marched towards the frontier of China.

General Howard.

NEW YORK, September 10.—A Tribune Washington special has the following items: Rumors of the intended resignation of General O. O. Howard as Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau, are again afloat; there is no truth whatever in the statement that General Howard is an army officer detailed to the charge of the freedmen's affairs, and he cannot resign. He could be relieved, but no application to be relieved will be made, as the President would construe the wish into an acknowledgment on the part of the General that he was unable to administer the affairs of his department, and Mr. Johnson would claim this justification for the dismissal from the army of a well-known gallant officer. General Howard's friends insist that he shall not place himself in such a false position, and Secretary Stanton plainly and emphatically asserts that, so long as he is chief of the Department, Howard shall remain Commissioner of the Bureau.

Destructive Fire in Sing Sing.

NEW YORK, September 10.—A fire occurred in Sing Sing early yesterday morning, which destroyed over twenty buildings, including, among others, Vanarden's large file works. The rest were stores, dwelling houses and barns. Fifty families were rendered homeless, and the loss is estimated at $200,000. Nearly all the buildings on the lower dock were swept away, and the homeless families were provided for by the villagers, and the American Hotel was thrown open to the sufferers, many of whom breakfasted there and received every kindness that could be bestowed upon them. In the afternoon the subject of the fire was adverted to by the clergymen of the different churches, and collections were taken up to afford the sufferers temporary relief. To-morrow a public meeting will be held for the purpose of raising money to help the afflicted out of their troubles.

Adjournment of the Fenian Congress.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—A Herald Troy special says: The Fenian Congress adjourned sine die yesterday, having been in session all Saturday night. Col. W. R. Roberts was re-elected President; P. J. Meehan President of the Senate, and J. W. Fitzgerald Speaker of the House. Gen. Sweeney was deposed as Secretary of War, but no successor has been named. His accounts were satisfactory, but he was believed to be incompetent. Gen. O'Neill was appointed Inspector General of the Irish Republican Army, and Col. Bailey Chief Military Organizer. It is still hoped that Gen. Sheridan will be prevailed upon to accept the command of the forces. Another movement on Canada will undoubtedly be made during the fall, if the contributions are plentiful.

Heavy Failure.

NEW YORK, September 10.—The American Cotton Planting and Loan Company, purporting to have a capital of $2,500,000, has collapsed. The Treasurer, it is said, has left with $300,000 of its funds.

Murderer Convicted.

CINCINNATI, September 10.—W. G. W. Gray, who murdered old Mr. Gray, of Fayette county, Ohio, in October, 1864, was found guilty, and sentenced to be hung November 13th.

—The following statement exhibits the business of the Pittsburgh Clearing House for the week closing on Saturday, September 1st:

	Exchanges.	Balances.
September 3	$870,911 01	$175,690 91
September 4	225,619 61	35,221 81

September 7	262,807 57	78,989 55
September 8	224,248 72	94,335 92
Total	$1,735,927, 88	$512,333 52

—The tendency of the money market is still to greater ease. A large amount of capital continues to lie idle for want of profitable employment. The gold interest on the Ten-Forties (now payable) is being steadily converted into currency, and the payments on account of the temporary loan are adding largely to the floating circulation. The total national bank circulation is now $289,915,820. As the national banking act only authorized the issue of $300,000,000 in this currency, it will be seen that there remains only about $10,000,000 to be put forth, which will probably all be taken up by the first of January. This with hundreds of millions of legal-tenders (not to mention the fractional currency), give us a very respectable quantity of paper money, compared with the amount in use before the war—less than three hundred millions.

—August 1, 1866, there were in circulation $566,373,868 United States legal-tender notes. August 18, of this year, the outstanding circulation of the national banks, amounted to $286,715. This gives a total of $854,777,643 paper money afloat, exclusive of the outstanding circulation of the old State Banks. June 1, 1865, there were outstanding $798,363,274 legal tender and national bank notes. In the amount of legal tenders, as given in both estimates is included the 150 millions compound interest notes. These are not in actual circulation at the present time. About 50 millions of them are supposed to be held as a part of the reserve, in lawful money of the national banks. Mr. Hooper will undoubtedly embrace at the opening of the next Congress to obtain the passage of a law forbidding the national banks from holding these notes as lawful money reserves.

—The Boston Bulletin says:

The act of Congress of 1862, authorizing the issue of 500 hundred millions of Five Twenties at an interest of 6 per centum, payable in coin, covers only the first series, or $181,000,000. Mr. Chase, when Secretary of the Treasury, was asked whether the principal of these bonds was payable also in coin. His reply was that the United States will not depart from the general usage of other governments unless some calamity occurs which cannot now be foreseen. The custom referred to is that of paying all national debts in gold. Mr. Chase's opinion does not, however, bind future administration. The Five Twenties of 1864 and 1865, stand upon a different basis. The acts of Congress of those years authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to issue Five Twenty bonds redeemable in coin at the pleasure of the government after twenty years. Though this provision does not appear upon the face of these bonds, it is precisely as binding as if it did. The next Congress will consider the plan of guaranteeing the payment in coin of all Five Twenties.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, September 10, 1866.

The produce markets continue rather quiet, and, with the exception of Wheat and Flour, both of which are a little excited in consequence of the material advance in the west, there are no new characteristics worthy of special notice.

GRAIN—Wheat is firm and the supply in this market is very much reduced. No. 1 Spring may be quoted at $2.50 to $2.55, and in small lots at $2.58@2.60. Oats dull, with a supply considerably in excess of the demand; sale of 2 cars No. 2 at 37½, delivered; 7 bags do at 38, and small sales at 42 to 43. We hear of some sales of new Spring Barley at $1.07 to $1.10—to arrive. Sale of 71 bags Rye at 90, and 50 bush do at 93. Small sales of Corn from store at 80 to 85.

FLOUR—The market is very firm and somewhat excited, and while some holders are asking an advance, as a general thing, prices remain unchanged, as yet. We continue to quote at $10.50 to $11.50 for Spring Wheat; $11.75 to $12.25 for half Spring and half Winter, and $12.50 to $13 for all Winter Wheat. Rye Flour is selling from store at $6.25 to $6.50, and Cornmeal at 95 to $1 per bush.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet and unchanged at 17½@17¾ for Shoulders; 19½@20 for Ribbed Sides; and 25 to 29 for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is dull, but held pretty firmly at 22 for prime kettle. Mess Pork is quoted at $34 to $34.50.

MILL FEED—Sale of 1 car Shorts at $1.18, and 1 car Seconds at $1.40. Middlings scarce and firm—may be quoted at $1.75 to $1.85, according to quality.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is selling at $3 for small lots, but a round lot would no doubt sell readily at $3.25. Timothy Seed is selling from store at $4. No movement in Clover Seed.

BUTTER—There is a continued fair demand for fresh Roll Butter, with sales at 28 to 32 for prime to choice, but packed is dull and lower, being quoted at 20 to 25.

EGGS—There is a steady fair demand, and we can report regular sales of fresh packed at 21.

CHEESE—Is firm, but the demand is only moderate; sales of Western Reserve at 15½ to 16½; Hamburg at 17 to 18, and Goshen at 20 to 21 cents.

HAY—Baled Hay is selling on arrival at $20 to $25 per ton, according to quality, and there is a very fair demand.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, Sept. 10, 1866.

CRUDE—The rise in the river and consequent expectation of pretty large receipts within the next few days, produced a general stagnation to-day, but this is generally the case under similar circumstances. Buyers are holding off in anticipation of a still further decline, while sellers, feeling pretty sanguine that the arrivals will not be as large as generally predicted, refuse to make any material concessions in order to effect sales. We can report sales of 500 bbls at 15½; 200 at 16; 100 at at 20½, and 200 at 21—quotations may be fairly given at 15 to 16, bbls returned, and 20 to 21, packages included, and these may be regarded as the extremes of the market.

REFINED—There is still considerable inquiry for bonded oil, mainly for immediate delivery, at full prices, but the offerings continue very light. We can report 500 bbls for last half of September, in Philadelphia, at 45½@ 45½ for October, buyer's option, at 42½, and 250 for November, same option, at 45. On the cars here, 38½ to 39 is offered, and holders generally are asking even 40 cents. Free Oil continues very dull, though prices are fully maintained, and we continue to quote prime city brands at 58 to 59, and 60. The demand continues very light, being restricted mainly to filling small orders for the local trade.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil are reported to-day:

Jas. Wilkins	82	Fisher & Bro	728
D. Bly	201	Jas. Mawhinney	200
Brewer & Burke	47	Waring & King	55
A. L. Linton	52

Spring Wheat from Nebraska.

A lot of 220 sacks "amber" spring wheat was sold to-day on 'Change at $1.80 per bush. This wheat was raised in Nebraska, and is but a drop from the great ocean of grain that will soon be on its way from that State to this market. Along the "amber," a good market awaits it.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

New York Stock and Money Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The gold market closed quiet, at 146@146¾. The stock market was quiet at the last open board, in consequence of the Hebrew holiday, which is celebrated at this time of the year. There is less than the usual amount of business doing in the old Five-twenties for foreign account, and the quotations are nominal. The government has this afternoon was lower than the gold bonds but higher in the 2d and 3d series of 7-30 notes, which were in improved demand. Closing prices were 108@108¼; 1-20 Coupons, 1865, 108@108¼; 10-40 Coupons, 98@98¾; July 7-30s, 106@106¾.

Mining stocks—American Flag, 3.00; Columbia, 140; Corydon, 400; Atlantic and Pacific, 225; Downsville, 150; Gunnell Gold, 108; Hope Gold, 175; Liberty, 34; Quartz Hill, 460. Rocky Mountain, 720; Smith & P., 310; Walkill, 135.

The Commercial's money article says: The money market opens this week without much change. The large monied institutions are lending on call at five per cent., and that is nominally the market rate, but large transactions are reported at four per cent., and under peculiar circumstances at something less. The trade again to-day, leaving this evening. This morning the movement is only moderate. The "Old Line," we understand, contemplate building a new boat, and we have no doubt she will be a credit to the trade.

The Van Buren, Capt. Nowland's new cotton boat, came around to the main landing yesterday, and will at once commence loading for New Orleans. Capt. Nowland expects to be ready to leave to-morrow.

Capt. Stapleton's new boat for the Chattahoocha river is progressing finely, and will be ready to set out on her long voyage before many weeks elapse. Like many boats intended for the Southern rivers, she is constructed so as to carry cotton.

The Kate Putnam, Capt. J. H. Lightner, is filling up rapidly for St. Louis, and will be ready to take her departure to-morrow. The Putnam has recently been thoroughly overhauled and repainted, and repainted, and is now in excellent condition for business.

The Cincinnati Commercial of Sunday, has the following items:

The Mollie Norton having reduced the fare to $1,50 to Higginsport, the Magnolia has also lowered her figures to $1 to the same point. She will bring tobacco here from Higginsport for 50c per hogshead.

The Natoma, Capt. Robert Carnes, will drop down to the landing to-morrow, and commence loading for Memphis.

The Nightingale, Capt. L. A. Frazier, will leave for St. Louis to-morrow night, and will be followed by the Shamrock, on Tuesday.

The W. F. Curtis, will not return to Marietta to-morrow, as usual, but will go in the docks for thorough repairs.

The Darling, Capt. E. E. Bowers, will be the next Memphis Packet Company's boat for Memphis.

Capt. Swaney will commence loading the Armadillo for New Orleans again, to-morrow.

The Evansville Journal, of Friday, says:

The cholera has broken out at Paducah. Among those who have taken is Mr. Ryan, of the firm of Ashbrook, Ryan & Co. We are not informed whether he died or not, or exactly how many cases have occurred there in all. A man died yesterday on the importer while that boat was at the landing at this city. We could not learn whether he was a passenger or one of the crew, or what was his disease.

RIVER NEWS.

The river, we regret to state, is again receding at this point, the pier marks last evening showing scant five and a half feet. At Oil City, the telegraph reported thirty-two inches in the early part of the day, but later in the day, telegrams reported but twenty-seven inches, and falling. The weather continues cloudy and unsettled, with indications favorable for more rain.

There has been no arrivals since our last report aside from the regular packets. The Leonteti, for Parkersburg, and the New State, for Wheeling, cleared on time with moderate trips. It is said that the Bayard will be here to go out on Thursday morning.

The Ezra Porter, Capt. J. H. Porter's new side-wheeler, intended for the New Orleans and Red River trade, is almost completed, and Capt. Darragh is getting along pretty well with his new boat, the Belle Vernon.

The Chieftan, of the "Peoples' Bowlines," came up from the Marine Railway yesterday where she has been undergoing repairs, we presume, will be ready to take her place in the trade again to-day, leaving this evening.

The "Old Line," we understand, contemplate building a new boat, and we have no doubt she will be a credit to the trade.

The Van Buren, Capt. Nowland's new cotton boat, came around to the main landing yesterday, and will at once commence loading for New Orleans. Capt. Nowland expects to be ready to leave to-morrow.
